Laura Pannack – Inside out

“Beginning with my subjects I want to explore how human relationships and emotions can be 'inside out', hidden and revealed. I have begun by photographing mothers & daughters (once one inside the other)... Human psychology and philosophy remain an interest in how I approach conceptualizing my work. As ever the aim is to create images that provoke emotion and allow the viewer to think and feel.”

Mélanie Wenger – Broken silence

Silence, they fight. They have multiple faces, no voice, they are strong, anchored in the shade, they set light to the unspeakable, the taboo.
The first step of the photographic documentary series about sexual violence around the world here sneaks in the gang warfare of Colombians of the biggest cocaine hub on earth.
